COLOR CONSULTATION DISCLAIMER

- The color rendering is a computerized image intended to approximate the specified colors.
- Colors in printout may vary from actual paint chip depending on lighting conditions you view these color rendered photos under, and due to the natural variances between pixels versus flat paint.
- Print & Color quality is dependent on the quality and resolution of the original photograph emailed to us.
- A color chip of the actual paint color specified is included for greater color accuracy.
- We strive for accuracy in our designs, however, it is the responsibility of the consumer to check all colors and numbers prior to ordering materials.
- Our recommendations were created to help inspire the selection of colors for your building. Whether you use the colors we suggest, try some variation of them, or opt for a completely different palette is a personal decision and you are the best judge of which colors are right for you.
